About Poderi Aldo Conterno

Poderi Aldo Conterno was founded in 1969 by Aldo Conterno, of the Conterno family of Monforte d'Alba, when he left the family business to set up on his own. The estate is based in the Bussia cru of Monforte, where it owns some of the finest sites, and is now run by his sons.

Aldo Conterno's Barolos come from parcels within Bussia, including Cicala, Colonnello and Romirasco, with Granbussia made only in the best years. The wines balance tradition and refinement, and they age superbly.

About Barolo, Bussia Cicala

Cicala is a parcel within the Bussia cru of Monforte d'Alba, bottled separately by Aldo Conterno. It typically gives one of the more powerful and structured of the estate's Barolos, with dark cherry, spice, earthy notes and firm tannin. It needs ten years or more to soften and ages well for decades.
