About Three Sticks

Three Sticks is a Sonoma winery founded by Bill Price, whose nickname gave the estate its name. Price owns the Durell Vineyard on the cool southern edge of Sonoma, long a source of fruit for some of California's most respected Chardonnay and Pinot Noir producers.

The winery focuses on single-vineyard Chardonnay and Pinot Noir from cool-climate sites in Sonoma, including Durell and the high-elevation One Sky Vineyard on Sonoma Mountain. The style aims for balance, freshness and site expression rather than weight, and production of each wine is small, giving the wines a following among collectors of Californian Burgundy varieties.

About One Sky Chardonnay, Sonoma Mountain

One Sky Vineyard sits high on Sonoma Mountain, where elevation and cool air give small yields and naturally fresh acidity. Three Sticks' Chardonnay from this site is taut and focused, with citrus, white peach and a stony, saline finish. It is one of the more structured wines in the range and develops well over five to ten years.
