About Sine Qua Non

Sine Qua Non is the winery of Manfred and Elaine Krankl in Ventura County, California, which released its first wines in the mid-1990s. Austrian-born Manfred Krankl gives every wine a new name and label, often designed by himself, so that no two releases look alike.

The wines are made mainly from Rhône varieties, especially Syrah and Grenache, from the Krankls' own vineyards and selected growers, in a rich, concentrated and highly individual style. They are sold mostly through a mailing list and are among the most collected wines of California.

About Poker Face & Into the Dark Assortment Case, Sta. Rita Hills ((Priced per 2 Double M

This assortment case combines two Sine Qua Non wines, Poker Face and Into the Dark. As with all the Krankls' wines, each carries its own name and individual label, and both draw on fruit from the cool-climate Sta. Rita Hills in Santa Barbara County. Rich, concentrated and textured, Sine Qua Non's wines are built to develop in bottle over a decade or more.
