About Marroneto

Il Marroneto is a small estate just north of the town of Montalcino, run by Alessandro Mori. Its vineyards lie on the slopes below the town, and its name comes from an old tower among chestnut trees on the property.

The wines are made in a traditional manner, with ageing in large oak casks, and are known for their elegance, perfume and finesse. Production is small, and the estate's top Brunello has become one of the most sought after in Montalcino.

About Brunello di Montalcino, Madonna delle Grazie

Madonna delle Grazie is Il Marroneto's single-vineyard Brunello, named after a nearby chapel, and the estate's top wine. Made from Sangiovese and aged in large oak casks, it is perfumed and finely structured, with red cherry, floral and herbal notes and a long, fresh finish. It ages well over two decades or more.
