About Marques de Murrieta

Marqués de Murrieta is one of the founding houses of Rioja, established in the mid-nineteenth century by Luciano de Murrieta, who brought Bordeaux techniques such as oak ageing to the region. Its home is the Castillo Ygay estate near Logroño, in Rioja Alta.

Since 1983 the bodega has been owned by the Cebrián-Sagarriga family, who have modernised it while keeping its traditional strengths. Murrieta makes its wines from its own estate vineyards and is best known for long-aged Gran Reserva reds, above all Castillo Ygay. Its older vintages show the remarkable longevity of classic Rioja.

About Ygay Gran Reserva, Rioja

Murrieta's Ygay Gran Reserva comes from the Castillo Ygay estate and is made only in the best years. Tempranillo-led, with Mazuelo (Carignan), it is aged for a long period in oak barrels and further in bottle before release. The style is classic Rioja: red fruit, vanilla, spice and leather, with fresh acidity that allows it to age for decades.
